Professional Development Information System

The Professional Development Information System (PDIS) is a web-based system for Colorado's early childhood workforce. This professional registry tracks your training and education through an early childhood credentialing system, provides high quality online professional development, and helps individuals plan professional development according to their current self-assessed knowledge and their professional development goals.

One of the great benefits of the PDIS is the FREE E-Learning Courses. There are many different self-paced courses on a variety of topics that providers can take. A course catalog of these trainings can be found at: <http://ecpd.costartstrong.org/ets/store/>.

For more information and assistance in getting registered in the PDIS, you can follow the steps in 5 Step to PDIS Success guide found on the PDIS website: <http://bit.ly/5StepsPDIS>
